CONSIDER IT A JOKE.

Washington People Did Not Mind Coxe,

And Society's Gay Whirl Was Uninterrupted.

"BETWEEN HE AND I."

The Amusing Mistake of a Republican Congressman.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—[Special].—When the comet scare was on a few years ago, a great astronomer was many times appealed to by those anxious about the result in case the wanderer should strike the earth. His reply was that, the material of the comet being very many times thinner than common air, the effect of a collision would be about the same upon the earth as if a spoonful of jelly should be hurled against Pike's peak. That is about the effect which the arrival of Coxe's army has had upon social matters in Washington, though some think it has tended to increase the normal gaiety of the season. Their first Sunday in the District and on its border was unusually fine and the bicyclists were out, and the demand for liveries was peculiarly active. A large section of the cabinet and invited guests set the example of gaiety, and it has been active followed all the week. Secretaries Gresham and Carlisle, Postmaster General Bissell, Private Secretary Thurber, Hon. Don M. Dickinson and a few others sailed for Fort Monroe just as the avant couriers of the industrial crossed the border of the District and enjoyed themselves as hilariously down there for two or three days as if there was no such thing as the "army." General Schofield had scarcely sent off directions to the department commanders in the northwest to sustain the United States marshals when necessary when many war department officials took a brief holiday, and May day came in with all this region in its gayest mood.

Events in Society.
Society began the month with at least the usual vivacity and has more than maintained it. The first event of importance was the Blaine-Baile wedding which has been so often chronicled in advance, and which took place at the old described Blaine residence on Lafayette square. This was followed by the highly fashionable entertainment on Tuesday evening at the Wittingham institute on Chestnut avenue, Takoma park, and this on Wednesday evening by a number of lectures and entertainments in aid of various charities. Chief Engineer Webster, United States navy, gave an illustrated lecture on Samoa at St. John's parish hall for the benefit of the Children's Country home.

Another great entertainment in the same line—that is to say, for charity's sake—was that given at Alhambra's Opera House under the patronage of Mrs. John G. Carlisle. The minut was danced in the good old colonial style, and all the favorite old songs were sung in the attractive old way. Of things comparatively modern—that is, not more than 40 years old—were the songs "Old Kentucky Home," "Let's Hear the Gentle Lark," by Miss Rogers of Tennessee. All this time, owing to the beautiful weather, the cavalry drill at Fort Myer and other open air shows, if one may call them such, around the city were unusually well attended. The week's entertainments for charity concluded with the rendition of "Pirates" and "Pirates of Penzance" by amateurs at the Academy of Music for the benefit of the National Homeopathic hospital. Take it all in all, if the Coxeites should leave any sick and wounded with us, they will be well provided for.

Not Badly Frightened.
While all these volunteer and nonprofessional entertainments were in progress theater managers showed very plainly that they were not arranging for bad business, for the combination of first class plays at the various theaters was very unusual indeed for the season.

If our people are scared over the Coxe business, they have taken a queer way of showing it. The real trouble seems to have come a long way from Washington, and the comments thereon of representative men here show no particular change of opinion. Many, of course, express sympathy with the unemployed poor, and a few think government with propriety could order some kind of public work done to give temporary relief, but men of all parties agree that the industrialists who have seized trains should be promptly dealt with and by United States troops. Even the extremely mild resolutions introduced by Senator Allen are generally disapproved of the ground that at a time like this congress should say nothing which the most heated imagination could construe into an approval of such a scheme as Coxe's.

The Wilson Bill.
Whether by the continued prodding of their constituents or by the rapid advance of hot weather, members of both houses seem stimulated to an unusual degree of activity in putting forward the public business, and prophecies multiply that all will be ready for adjournment quite early in June. The minority in the senate have been generally disappointed in the ground that at a time like this congress should say nothing which the most heated imagination could construe into an approval of such a scheme as Coxe's.

A Slip of the Tongue.
In view of the storm created by the statement that a southern congressman once asked in a speech, "Where was I at?" it is hardly safe to report a sentence uttered in conversation by a Republican representative who is prominent enough to be spoken of as a candidate for president. Speaking of a fellow statesman, he said, "The difference between he and I is," etc. The journalist to whom he said it was almost prostrated, and the speaker's colleague, who was also one of the party, enjoyed the strictest secrecy as soon as the talker's back was turned. It does seem queer that a representative of a state noted for its high standard of education should use such an expression as "between he and I," but like the expression "Where was I at?" and many others heard from congressmen it merely shows how defects of early training will constantly prove themselves among statesmen as well as other people.

The Kansas City Gazette contains a half column article about Miss Gertrude Coburn, a daughter of Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture. Miss Coburn is now holding the position of principal of the sewing and cooking department of the state normal school at Menomonie, Wisconsin. She lived in Topeka and attended the public schools here in 1880 and afterward graduated with honor from the State Agricultural College.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEWS OF KANSAS.

Promoters of the Miners Strike
at Pittsburg,

Are Busy Circulating Incendiary
Speeches and Addresses.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

The Smallpox at Atchison is Spreading.

PITTSBURG, May 5.—There is still hope that the proposed coal miners' strike may be settled before any overt steps are taken. Many miners do not favor striking, but they take no active part in opposition to it, while the agitators are urging their cause with much zeal. Literature of the following kind is being distributed freely by the advocates of a strike.

FELLOW-MINERS! Strike for Your Rights!

Yes, strike, not here and there, but all over this broad land. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, every miner should on the first day of May drop his pick and shovel and be determined to risk no more his life at starvation wages.

We are slowly driven to the wall by reduction in our wages, and local strikes have proven worse than useless against the encroachments of our tyrannical employers. Central Pennsylvania is threatened with another reduction of 10 per cent; West Virginia is fighting against reductions by local strike; Ohio has accepted a reduction of 20 cents per ton, and now Indiana, Illinois and other competitive fields, although prices are down low enough, will be asked to accept further reduction on account of this cowardly move of united Ohio. We are going down, and no one knows where this cut-throat competition to secure markets will stop unless we rise in our might and put an end to this unjust capitalist system based upon fraud, robbery and brute force.

Our condition is worse than that of the black slave. Our employers have not even as much sympathy for us as they have for their horses and mules. They are fed whether they work or not. When we work we only get at best a miserable living; when we have no work we soon have to beg or steal. Thousands of us are starving and our wives and children are crying for bread.

Shall we, who are starving and starve like cows? In the name of those so dear to us, we say not a thousand times no! Let us be men. Let us act at once and strike for better conditions. Oh! if we only knew our power and how to use it properly! We, the dirty miners, who are looked upon as an inferior, lawless class, can stop the wheels of industry. A general strike of miners means the closing up of factories and the stopping of traffic by rail or by water. We would be masters of the situation and could dictate terms to our employers.

The theory that some people were born to work and suffer while others were born to lead a life of idleness and luxury has been exploded. None are born with special rights and privileges. Why then follow the old conservative rut and willingly give up the wealth that we produce so the few may revel in luxury? It's time we should put a stop to this bare-faced robbery and plainly tell the idler that if he wants to eat he must also work. This present competitive system is rotten and must be destroyed. In the cities thousands of people are freezing for want of coal, and the miners are starving for want of work. Are not these shameful conditions? Can we imagine anything worse?

The capitalistic class has proven a failure in conducting the industries of this country for the benefit of the people. Only scoundrels and rogues can succeed today. Our jails are crowded with honest people, compared with the rich thieves and murderers who are running the country. We have been robbed and fooled long enough. Let us no longer be cowards.

Our only salvation is a general strike for conditions that will enable us to live like human beings. We have a right to enjoy the fruits of our labor, to enjoy some of the good things of life, to luxuriate that ought to be at the reach of every worker in this age of electricity and continual wonders.

Let us then be prepared to enter this struggle on the 1st of May with a determination to win and put an end to this infernal system of monopoly, oppression and wage-slavery.

We have nothing to lose but our chains, and we have a world to gain.

Kansas Medical Association Will Hold Its Next Meeting Here.

ATCHISON, May 5.—The following officers were elected by the Kansas Medical association for the ensuing year:
President, W. R. Priest, Concordia; first vice president, George M. Gray, Kansas City, Kas.; second vice president, Dr. Tyler, Clinton; corresponding secretary, G. A. Wall, Topeka; treasurer, L. Reynolds, Holton; member judicial council, C. A. McGuire, Topeka.

The society selected Topeka as the place for holding the next annual meeting.

FIRST DEATH FROM SMALLPOX;

The Disease Spreading at Atchison and Fast House is Enlarged.

ATCHISON, May 5.—The first death there has occurred here, from smallpox was America McAllister, wife of Chas. McAllister, a colored man.

One of the McAllister children was first taken down, but has about recovered. Three other children are now sick.

The board of health decided to put another room on the pest house, in the city park, and remove to such place all persons taken with the disease hereafter. The children now sick in the McAllister, Bots and Scott families cannot be removed, and will be left where they are, and the strict quarantine retained.

new cases are reported, and will be investigated as soon as the board finds a physician to take the cases.

Treadwell Back in Jail.

EMPORIA, May 5.—The burglar Treadwell has been returned to Emporia and placed in jail. As the case stands now Treadwell is under sentence of five years in the penitentiary, but will in all probability be prosecuted for jail breaking, which will add an additional sentence of from one to five years. During his stay in Emporia he will be guarded at night. The St. Louis police will get the $200 offered for his capture.

Got $500 Instead of $10,000.

EMPORIA, May 5.—In the case of Dora Carpenter vs. the city of Emporia, a damage suit for $10,000, on account of injuries received by the plaintiff from a defective sidewalk, the jury returned a verdict for $500.

Dickinson County Y. P. S. C. E.

ENTERPRISE, May 5.—The semi-annual convention of the Y. P. S. C. E., of Dickinson county, began in the German Methodist church here today. Over 150 delegates are expected. The session continues over tomorrow. State President D. S. Kelly, speaks tomorrow night.

WE BREAD THE WORLD

And We Shall Be Able to Do It as Usual.

Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture, today issues his crop report which makes a handsome showing for Kansas. He says:

Every day since the report on crop conditions of one month ago has been a day of notable improvement agriculturally in every Kansas county. All parts of the state have been visited by gentle rains (many portions from three to six or more inches) which, while sufficient to put the soil in the best possible state for working were not at any time so heavy nor long-continued as to delay work.

As a whole the month has not been a warm one and although the growth of vegetation has not been of a steady, healthy character it was not nearly so rapid as would have resulted from a continuously higher temperature. It has been a period of steady plowing and planting, under weather and soil conditions as favorable as the farmers of any region need ever hope for, and May 1894 opens upon them with unusually bright promise of bountiful crops.

This does not imply that in numerous counties much of the winter wheat sown will not, because of an unfavorable fall and winter, give but a poor return, and in not a few instances none in all; but it is a fact not to be overlooked that the ground where such wheat has fallen has been at once available in the best possible tilth for the use of corn or other desired crops to which it is rapidly being planted.

Winter Wheat.

Rains and favoring weather have caused a development most gratifying; fields that in many counties a month ago were regarded as worthless, now indicate a partial crop from a scattering stand of healthy plants; great areas previously promising, but supposed to have been much if not fatally injured by the freezing weather following March 20, appear as practically unharmed, and this with that not suspected of any such damage, is now variously described by correspondents as "good," "fine," "very good," "better than average," "looks well generally," "condition 150 per cent," "prospect for a big crop, extra good," "better than for several years," "splendid," "superior," "all right," and "best in twenty-five years."

The counties from which the most highly favorable reports come are Allen, Anderson, Atchison, Bourbon, Brown, Chase, Chautauqua, Cherokee, Coffey, Crawford, Dickinson, Doniphan, Douglas, Elk, Ellsworth, Franklin, Geary, Jackson, Jefferson, Jewell, McPherson, Johnson, Labette, Leavenworth, Linn, Lincoln, Lyon, Marion, Miami, Mitchell, Montgomery, Morris, Nemaha, Osage, Osborne, Ottawa, Pottawatomie, Riley, Saline, Sedgewick, Wabaunsee, Washington, Wilson, Woodson and Wyandotte, while Clark, Greeley, Hamilton, Ness, Morton and Wichita report their former poor prospects vastly improved.

These statements, applicable as they are to portions of the state producing great quantities of wheat, do not obscure the fact that in other portions the crop at best can amount comparatively to but little, the plants yet alive being so scattering as to constantly suggest the question as to whether the ground might not wisely be replanted to other crops.

Reports of correspondents quite unanimously agree that the freeze in March did but a fraction of the injury feared at the time, and that practically all of damage of failure sustained has been due to poor germination from dryness of the soil in the fall and the consequent later blowing of it from the plant roots, causing them to perish. The indications are that the hard winters have withstood the adverse conditions much the best.

Chinch bugs are reported in various localities, but in scarcely a single instance as doing any damage whatever. No mention is made of any other insects.

Corn.

The uniformly favorable weather and soil throughout the entire corn belt of the state during nearly or quite all of April have afforded a season well nigh unprecedented for the planting and germination of corn. An unusually large proportion of it is already in the ground; in the southern counties many fields are receiving their first cultivation and show a most satisfactory stand. In the central and northern counties the situation is equally encouraging, although work and growth are somewhat less advanced. The acreage planted will undoubtedly be very large, and augmented by such ground upon which winter wheat has failed and where oats and spring wheat have been seriously harmed by March cold. Reports indicate that in Kansas the lister has become the corn-planting machine of the day and has, at least for the time being, in a great measure superseded all others.

Spring Wheat.

The area sown to spring wheat as reported by correspondents is less than that of last year by about one-fourth. Dry weather at the time of seeding prevented early germination; the cold period late in March retarded growth and reduced its vitality. Counties having the largest acreage report the prospect not more than fair.

Rye.

The conditions pertaining to winter wheat have been and are closely applicable to rye. In some localities the prospect is good while in others but moderate.

Oats.

The acreage of last year was 1,753,197; reports point to a decrease from this of about 15 per cent and a condition which is 65 per cent of a good average. Not a little of the ground sown to oats will yet be planted with corn or other crops.

Grasses.

Pasturage in all portions of the state is rapidly coming forward and already sustains the live stock. Fine varieties of grasses are much the most advanced.

Fruit.

Late varieties of apples as a whole are perhaps as promising of a good crop as in the most favorable of previous seasons; the injury supposed to have been wrought by cold in March proving but slight except as to the early sorts. The same description applies to late and early cherries. Peaches, as noted a month ago were destroyed by cold.

MR. HALE WINS.

He Is the Legal City Assessor Says the Supreme Court.

Geo. D. Hale is now the legal assessor of the city of Topeka. The state supreme court today made an orderousting Oscar Bischoff from that position. An argument was made that Mr. Bischoff's acts if he made the assessment would be void. The court holds that all his acts as city assessor are legal until he turns the office over to his successor. Mr. Bischoff was appointed by Mayor Coffey under the impression that he was to serve two years. When Mayor Harrison was elected he appointed Mr. Hale and held that the Bischoff's tenure of office was one year instead of two. Mr. Bischoff refused to turn over the books and suit was brought in the supreme court to oust him.

While the order of the court gives the office to Mr. Hale the assessment has been made and Mr. Bischoff has secured the emoluments for the year in question.

At a meeting of the Fifth ward county central committee they resolved not to hold a caucus, but elect their delegates to the county convention at the primary next Saturday afternoon, and request all those who wish to run to hand their names to the committeeman, J. M. Harr, before the morning of the 10th inst.
